The Ethics Investigations workshop is focused on the methodology of ethics investigations, interviewing skills, and report writing.

The following themes will be introduced and discussed during this course:

This course is intended for persons responsible for conducting investigations into transgressions of organisations’ codes of ethics, organisational values, and ethics related policies (e.g. conflicts of interest, sexual harassment and victimisation).

This course is NOT intended for persons with an extensive investigative background.

Facilitator: Dr Lincoln Cave

Dr Lincoln Cave is Executive: Organisational Ethics at The Ethics Institute (TEI), South Africa. With over 30 years of experience in national security and international relations, he holds a Doctorate in Public Management from Tshwane University of Technology and a Master’s in Security Studies from the University of Pretoria. His qualifications also include a Postgraduate Diploma in Legal Principles Compliance and a Corporate Forensic Investigator Diploma.

Dr Cave has conducted ethics training across diverse functions, including security managers from state entities and foreign intelligence services, and regularly facilitates ethics awareness sessions and campaigns. He serves as a Voluntary External Advisor at the Centre for Geopolitical Security and Strategy (CGSS), contributes to academic and practitioner publications, and has presented at various TEI hosted and co-hosted events..

He is a member of the Institute of Corporate Forensic Practitioners and the Institute of Directors South Africa, and previously served as a Non-Executive Director at the Curiosa Academy (2023–2025).
